PART - II

1. (a) Joy Ltd. is an entertainment company which runs a circus and travels around the country to entertain the masses. The circus began losing its popularity over the past few years and attendance has reportedly dropped by as much as 75% in the current financial year. Animal rights activists continuously targeted the circus for its use of animal creatures like elephants in the show. The CEO noted that the audience seemed to be abandoning the circus due to their expanding entertainment options. The high cost of moving the show from city to city eventually made the business model untenable. As a result, many key managerial personnel of the company left the company, there were delays in the payment of wages and salaries, and the bank from whom the company had taken funds also decided not to extend further finance or to fund further working capital requirements of the company.

When discussed with the management, the statutory auditor understood that the company had no action plan to mitigate such circumstances (Use of going concern assumption is inappropriate) Further, all such circumstances were not reflected in the financial statements of Joy Ltd. What course of action should the statutory auditor of the company take in the auditor's report in such situation ?

of raw material is such that its physical verification requires the involvement of an expert. Management hired their expert for the stock taking and auditors also involved their expert for the same purpose.

The auditor observed that the work of the auditor's expert was not adequate for the auditor's purposes and he could not resolve the matter through additional audit procedures which included further work performed by both the auditor's expert and the auditor.

Based on above, the auditor knows that it would be right to express a modified opinion in the auditor's report because he has not obtained sufficient appropriate audit evidence. But he was reluctant in doing so and issued a clean audit report and included the name of the expert in his report to reduce his responsibility for the audit opinion expressed. Comment with respect to relevant Standard of Auditing relating to the action of the auditor of issuing clean audit report.
